Table of Contents

Executive Summary

According to the Board's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion policy (B1012), students and employees benefit from interacting with peers and role models in a diverse learning environment that increases cultural competency through understanding and engagement with multicultural, social, and civic issues (both in and out of the classroom). Students and employees also benefit from diverse learning experiences that foster active thinking, intellectual engagement, increased motivation, consistent attendance, creative problem-solving, a comprehensive understanding of their field of study, and improved satisfaction with the overall college/workplace experience. Finally, students and employees receive the greatest benefit when the learning environment and institutional culture prepare them for success in a multicultural workplace and a globally connected society.

Students and employees receive value when they perceive they have been treated equitably in an inclusive environment which leads to mutual understanding and respect. Students and employees receive great value when they perceive the campus/workplace climate is inclusive and equitable, which often leads to a sense of belonging, improved perceptions of the campus atmosphere, and a willingness to accept intellectual challenges. Finally, students and employees receive the greatest value from an equitable and inclusive learning environment where their unique learning needs and backgrounds are recognized and respected, which helps them persist and complete their programs of study or perform on the job.

The community benefits when achievement gaps for low-income and minority students are narrowed through student and employee engagement activities that take place in a diverse, equitable, and inclusive educational environment.

This bar chart shows the percentage of student enrollment by instructional delivery method from 2020 to 2024. There's a significant increase in Internet-based courses, growing from 20% to 54% over five years. This suggests a strong shift towards online learning. Lab and lecture remain popular, though their proportion decreases slightly, indicating a possible shift in preference or availability towards online education.

Number of students receiving accommodation services

Graph 2. Number of students receiving accommodations
Data Source: CROA Dashboard, Disability & Accommodations report

Initial decrease from 97 to 72 students receiving accommodations from 2020 to 2021, followed by a subsequent increase to 114 by 2023. This could indicate an improved recognition and support for student needs over time.

Data Source: CROA Dashboard, Disability & Accommodations report

Increase in accommodations, rising from 3.08% in 2020 to 4.02% in 2023. The upward trend suggests that a higher percentage of the student population is receiving accommodations over time, which could point to better inclusivity measures.

Performance Area: Academic Progress

When disaggregating the data to look at the rates according to ethnicity, gender, and age, there were no distinct trends with one group over the other each year, as one group might be slightly higher than the average one year but slightly below the following.

There was little difference in the rates when looking at gender. However, the disaggregation that shows the greatest difference is in the age band. The retention rate from Fall to Spring is highest among the youngest age group and decreases with age. However, persistence from fall-to-fall increases with age, indicating that while older students may take longer to complete their studies, they continue at a higher rate.

Student headcount and Credit Hours for DEI courses

The credit hours generated in the courses submitting Global and Cultural Awareness Core Competency Rubric date represent approximately 16% of total academic credit hours, but approximately 48% of our academic students take at least one of these courses. The increase is due to the SAAT committee tasking faculty to increase the number of DEI courses assessed.

Performance Area: Academic Success

The Student Academic Assessment Team (SAAT) has set a benchmark of 80% as the target each year on the Global and Cultural Awareness core competency rubric. When looking at student success on the Global and Cultural Awareness core competency rubric, the 80% benchmark has been met just over 70% of the time (17/24) over the past six semesters. The average student proficiency rate for this core competency during the past six semesters is consistently above 80%.

Actions and Recommendations

Actions

Goal 3. Objective 1. Strategy C – Increase awareness of diversity, equity, and inclusion through multicultural activities in the classroom and throughout campus.

Goal 3. Objective 5. Strategy E – Develop events that promote inclusive employee interaction.

From FY23 to FY24, the number of opportunities to participate in DEI-related topics/events for students increased from 13 to 21, and employees from 7 to 12. In addition, delivery method options now include Zoom and face-to-face at the extension centers.

Goal 3. Objective 1. Strategy E – Review administrative policies and procedures to ensure they are free of implicit and explicit bias.

The DEIB Council created the following definitions to become a measuring tool for the review and revision of policies and procedures:

- Diversity – The presence of differences requiring awareness of personal limitations and biases to understand, accept, and champion individuality, ultimately strengthening the College and its community.
- Equity – Treating people fairly by providing individualized resources and opportunities to ensure all achieve the same outcome.
- Inclusion – Intentional decision-making practices that promote a culture where all are valued and involved
- Belonging – Feeling safe, accepted, and supported increasing confidence and inspiring participation in building meaningful connections.

Currently, the Council has reviewed two policies.

Recommendation

As it relates to the Board Policy on Diversity, Equity, Inclusion & Belonging (B1012) a student survey to assess equity, inclusiveness, feelings of belonging, and student satisfaction, an employee survey to assess inclusive and equitable workplace, meaningful work, and job satisfaction, review of current DEI course list with the intent to include more courses, and Equity training for the DEIB Council.
